
Volpe and Koenig, P.C., Included in IPVISIBILITY Study of Top U.S. Patent Practices

07.21.2017

PHILADELPHIA, PA (July 21, 2017) – Volpe and Koenig, P.C., is included in the 2017 U.S. Patent Practice Professional and Performance Risks Study by IPVISIBILITY. The study, using Big ipvisibility-reportData, examines and sets models for scoring patent practices in the United States, as well as their professional liability risk potential. The study's risk-related underwriting insights are a valuable tool for chief risk officers, underwriters, actuaries and other risk-related decision makers.

Volpe and Koenig, P.C., is included in the study's top 20 patent practices nationwide, based on the study's findings of accuracy, completeness and timeliness of the firm's actions before the United States Patent and Trademark Office.

About IPVISIBILITY – IPVISIBILITY provides risk assurance tools that provide insight for decision makers, such as professional liability insurers, financial institutions and IP law firms. This ranges from behavioral data risk benchmarks, risk insights to risk scores for financial institutions, professional liability insurers and intellectual property practitioners.
